CONDOLENCES FROM ALL POINTS POUR INTO AUSTRIAN CAPITAL

Assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and Consort, Duchess of Hohenburg Produces Profound Impression Throughout World—Newspapers Pay Warmest Tributes to Heir to Throne and Wife—Venerable Emperor Arrives and Is Warmly Greeted.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED IN BOSNIA

Servian Students Thank God That Assassin's Bullets Rang True and Are Arrested as Accomplices—Blowing Up of Royal Train Planned—Bombs Placed Along Track—New Heir to Throne Popular Among People—Country Prays for Life of Francis Joseph.

Vienna, June 29.—From all parts of the dual monarchy, as well as from most foreign countries, messages poured in today testifying to the profoundly painful impression produced throughout the world by the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and his consort, the Duchess of Hohenburg.

The newspapers pay the warmest tributes to the late archduke and his wife, and reflect the sorrow and sympathy evoked among all classes by their death. Emperor Francis Joseph Arrives. When the old emperor arrived at a suburban station from Ischl at 11 o'clock this morning, he was greeted with cheers by large crowds. His majesty drove in an open carriage to Schoenbrunn Castle accompanied by a full staff of brilliantly uniformed officers. He appeared to be in the best of health. He was received at the palace by Duke Charles Francis Joseph, new heir apparent to the throne.

Although today was a holiday, the newspapers appeared and devoted their columns exclusively to yesterday's tragic event. All of them dwell on the devotion to duty of the late archduke and to the important services he rendered to the army and navy, while touching reference was made to the family relations of the archduke and his consort, which had been marked by undisturbed happiness.

General expression was given by the press to the conviction that the future of Austria-Hungary now, more than ever, depends on the health of the venerable emperor, Francis Joseph. Future of Austria. The opinion has gained ground in authoritative circles here that the future of Austria-Hungary now, more than ever, depends on the health of the venerable emperor, Francis Joseph.

It was pointed out in high political circles that if the emperor is permitted to reign only a few years more everything may continue as usual and Archduke Francis Ferdinand's death will have little lasting material effect on the foreign or domestic affairs of the dual monarchy. It was argued that should a youthful and inexperienced ruler like the Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, son of the late Archduke Otto, suddenly be called on to take the reins of government, a period of anxiety might supervene.

Young Archduke Popular. The young archduke and his wife, who was Princess Zita of Parma, are both extremely popular among all classes of society and everywhere from the emperor down to the people prepared to do his utmost to help them in every way to rise to the responsible position so suddenly thrust on them. The suggestion put forward in some quarters that Archduke Francis Ferdinand's death is likely to cause a political upheaval is said not to have any real foundation, as the old emperor has kept the reins of government in his own hands, delegating as little power as possible to his late nephew.

Much mystery always had existed in Austria-Hungary regarding the late heir's real and political claims. He was credited with being an ardent Catholic and the chief supporter of the power of the Christian-Socialist or anti-semitic party in Austria. It was known he was not in sympathy with the Magyar regime in Hungary, nor was he as pro-German in Austria as some of the German nationalist factions desired him to be.

Favored Three-fold System. The late archduke, it is believed, really favored some form of three-fold system for the future government of the Austro-Hungarian empire to take the place of the present dual regime of Germans in Austria and Magyars in Hungary. It is said he desired to see the great Slavic population in the two halves of the empire and forming a very powerful proportion of the inhabitants, given some definite share in the government of the country. Indeed, it is declared, he made clear promises in that direction to certain leaders of the Slav parties a few months ago. His death removed all these possibilities and will, it is understood, prove a serious blow to the dominant power and to the anti-semites. As far as the new heir presumptive is concerned, his political opinions may almost be said to be non-existent. In foreign policy it is to be quite certain that the Archduke Charles Francis Joseph will have a strong supporter in Germany and of the Triple Alliance. The influence of his uncles, the kings of Bavaria and Saxony and the future king of Wuertemberg, will, it is argued, certainly keep him attached to the German empire.

The bodies of the murdered couple are expected to reach here tomorrow and will be buried next week at Anstetten, upper Austria, in accordance with the archduke's wishes. Already the city is draped in mourning. It has been decided the bodies are not to lie in state in the court chapel here as the duchess was not regarded as a member of the imperial family. The lying-in-state therefore will take place either at St. Stephens cathedral or the Vauder chapel.

The bomb thrown by Nedeljko Gavrino, a Serb, at Sarajevo yesterday is reported to have been made at the Serb gun factory at Kraguyevatz.

Martial Law Proclaimed. Sarajevo, Bosnia, June 29.—Martial law was proclaimed today, both in the city and the District of Sarajevo in consequence of the assassination yesterday of Archduke Ferdinand and the Duchess of Hohenburg.

Death masks of the Archduke and the Duchess were taken today and the bodies placed on a catafalque in the chapel of the palace and surrounded by a magnificent display of wreaths and other floral emblems from all parts of the country.

According to the semi-official report of the tragedy, when Gavrino, the young assassin, fired the fatal shots, Field Marshal Oskar Potiorek, governor of Bosnia, was seated in the archduke's motor car. Count Francis von Harrach was standing on the footboard of the car acting as a shield to the occupants of whom he constituted himself the special bodyguard after the bomb had been thrown a short time before by Nedeljko Gavrino.

The archduke was joking with the count about his precautions when the reports of several shots rang out.

Aim of Assassin True. The aim of the assassins was so true that each of the bullets inflicted a mortal wound. For an instant after the attack, Field Marshal Potiorek thought the archduke and the duchess seated opposite him had again escaped. Neither the archduke nor the duchess uttered a sound, but a moment afterward it was seen they had been hit. Lieut. Colonel Erik Merizzi, who had been wounded by the bomb in the first attack, was today pronounced out of danger, while the injury sustained by Count von Boos-Waldeck is said to be insignificant.

Troops Suppress Students. The Croat students here today made several attempts to punish the Serbs, but the troops were called in and maintained order.

Gavrino, it was learned today, had been expelled from Sarajevo two years ago, but had been recently permitted to return through the intervention of a Socialist member of the Bosnian diet.

Some Servian students here, when they heard the news of the assassination, shouted: "Thank God we need not do it ourselves."

They were arrested as accomplices of the assassins.

Servian Youth Throws Bomb. Sarajevo, June 29.—A bomb thrown by a youth standing on the corner of the main street of the Bosnian capital was the signal this morning for a serious anti-Servian outbreak.

"MY BARE FEET STAINED WITH HIS BLOOD I DRAGGED HIS BODY DOWN STAIRS AND THREW IT INTO STREET," HER EXPLANATION

Mrs. Helen M. Angle, wealthy Connecticut divorcee; Waldo B. Ballou, city councilman, who met a tragic fate at the door of her apartment; where Waldo's body was found.

That the death of Waldo B. Ballou near the door of her apartment was accidental, is the statement of Mrs. Helen M. Angle, who is under arrest on suspicion at Stamford, Conn. She says Ballou fell to his death from the door of her apartment, and that she then, with her bare feet stained with his life blood, dragged his mangled body down a flight of stairs and threw it into the street before her home. Ballou was a city councilman and her ardent admirer. Mrs. Angle is a divorcee, and wealthy.

ASSASSINATION WELL PLANNED

Murder of Francis Ferdinand Engineered by Persons of Mature Organizing Ability.

PAPERS FOMENT HATRED

Young Student Was Paid Large Sum to Commit Awful Deed.

London, June 29.—Every despatch today from Sarajevo and Vienna brought additional evidence that the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and the Duchess of Hohenburg was one of the most carefully planned crimes ever carried out against royalty.

Indications from the scene of the tragedy show that it was engineered by persons possessing more mature organizing ability than that of the youthful assassins. It is generally thought in Austria and Hungary that the plotters had their headquarters in Belgrade, the Servian capital.

Servian hatred of Austrians, which always has been violent, has been fomented by the newspapers in Belgrade and by the agitators throughout Servia and Bosnia, who have helped to inflame the minds of the students and to induce them to sacrifice their lives in the belief that they will go down to history as patriots.

Austrians Plan Revenge. Yesterday's crime seems likely to have a contrary effect to that desired by its authors. Even before the bodies of the murdered couple have been interred, the Austrian authorities are contemplating severe measures against the Serbs in Austria and Bosnia. These measures are likely further to embitter the relations between the countries, as well as those between Austria and Russia, the protector of all the Serbs.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand, it is asserted today, was well aware of the danger he was running during his tour of Bosnia, which he undertook as inspector-general of the forces of the empire. This title was conferred on him last year by Emperor Francis Joseph. His chief task was to inspect the Austrian army, which guarded the Servian frontier during the recent Balkan wars and prevented any encroachments by Servian troops.

Servian Minister Warns Archduke. The Servian minister at Vienna told Archduke Francis Ferdinand of the peril of his visit to Sarajevo at the present time, and implored him even if he insisted on going there himself at least to leave the Duchess at home.

When the Duchess of Hohenburg was informed, however, of the dangerous nature of the journey, the archduke was about to take, she said her place was at her husband's side. When the archduke and duchess arrived at Sarajevo on Saturday, some signs of hostility were shown by the Serb portion of the population. Just before the couple passed through the city, the authorities succeeded in getting rid of a great display of Servian flags which the people had hoisted instead of flying the Austrian colors.

Feeling, however, was carried to the extreme when at a session of the Bosnian diet, called to express sorrow at the death of the archduke, four Servian deputies appeared in light suits in contrast to the sombre black of their fellow deputies.

Plan to Blow Up Train. The plans of the assassins contemplated, it is said, the blowing up of the royal train when the archduke and his wife were leaving Sarajevo, in case the attempt by Gavrino failed.

It was learned that several bombs were found along the Sarajevo railway over which the archduke and his wife would have traveled. Prinzp's plans were carefully laid. He secreted himself behind a building at a spot where it was necessary for the archduke's car to pass. Some accounts of the crime say that Prinzp actually stood on the step of the car as he fired the shots.

Against all these carefully laid plans of the criminals, the extraordinary precautions taken by the authorities proved unavailing, for the murderers guessed rightly that the archduke would not be frightened into giving up his program after the first bomb had failed.

Prinzp a Paid Assassin. In Prinzp's rooms the police found a large sum of money, which they say is further proof that he was a paid assassin of some Servian organization.

The sympathy of not only the rulers, but of the people of Europe has been expressed to the aged Emperor Francis Joseph, whose much needed rest at his summer residence at Ischl has been broken by the crime. He left Ischl, where he was recuperating from his recent severe illness, for Vienna this morning. The imperial train stopped at Arstetten, where the Emperor was joined by Archduke Francis Salvator and by his only daughter, the Archduchess Maria Valeria.

London, June 29.—The Duke of Teck, accompanied by a small military mission, including a field marshal of the British army, will represent King George at the funeral of Archduke Francis Ferdinand.

PRINCIPAL OF SCHOOL KILLED

Pittsburg, Kan., June 29.—Rex R. Tanner, principal of the high school at Weir, Kansas, was killed and four other men received slight injuries as a result of a fire that destroyed the main building of the Pittsburg State Normal school here today.

COTTON GAMBLING BILL IS PASSED

Washington, June 29.—The Lever bill, designed to eliminate gambling features in cotton exchanges, was passed by the house today, 84 to 21.

TY COBB MAY JUMP. Buffalo, N. Y., June 29.—Ty Cobb of the Detroit American baseball team and President Gilmore of the Federal league arrived here today and held a conference this afternoon. Notwithstanding numerous denials, it was reported the Detroit player was considering an offer to jump to the new league.

PEACE MEETINGS MAY BE FAILURE

Carranza's Delay in Answering and Breach With Villa Causes Dark Outlook.

ASKS FOR MORE TIME

Telegram Sent Asking for Definite Word as to Mediation Conferences.

Washington, June 29.—Despite continued expressions of hope that the plans for Mexican mediation will not fail, considerable apprehension was shown today in official quarters.

Considerable significance was attached to the fact that the mediation conference plans to take a recess unless there is some definite assurance from Carranza by tomorrow that his agents will meet the Huerta delegates and representatives of the United States on plans for a provisional government outlined in the recent protocol.

Carranza's latest reply to the mediators, asking for time to consult his generals who participated in the plans of Guadalupe before agreeing to enter the proposed peace conference, was said here not to have reached the mediators, but that it probably would get to Niagara Falls by tomorrow morning.

Agents Still Hopeful. Louis Cabrera, one of Carranza's agents here, said today he believed the general would yield to the wishes of the United States and the invitation of the mediators after he had consulted with his chiefs.

Continued reports of the widening of the breach between Villa and Carranza, however, have served to disturb officials here. Alfredo Breceda, personal representative of Carranza here, after a conference today with Cabrera, sent a telegram to the chief, asking for definite word about the mediation conference as soon as possible.

EASTERN PEOPLE ARE HERE TO SEE THE CANYON

En route to Denver after a trip through the Yellowstone National park, Mrs. Herbert Ehly of Ottawa, Ill., Miss Lena Benckendorf and Miss Anna Gurney of Streator, Ill., and Miss Clara Nolte, Cedar Falls, Ia., were the guests of R. H. Argubright today.

BUBONIC PLAGUE IN NEW ORLEANS

Surgeon General Blue to Take Charge of Campaign Against Dread Disease.

ONE DEATH RECORDED

States Warned to Pursue Active Campaign for Eradication of Rodents.

Washington, D. C., June 29.—Surgeon General Blue of the public health service will go to New Orleans to take charge of the campaign against bubonic plague, which has appeared there. One death has already been recorded.

After receipt of telegrams today from Oscar Dowling, president of the Louisiana board of health, the treasury department ordered the surgeon general to take charge of the situation. Dowling reported bacteriological confirmation of two cases. The public health service, however, will make its own examination.

Surgeon General Blue said today neither the city of New Orleans nor the territory surrounding it was in any danger, but that it was advisable that the federal government take sharp measures. Apparatus for rat catching and fumigation are being sent to New Orleans and a corps of experts in plague eradication, including Surgeon Creel of the public health service, will carry out the surgeon general's plans.

As a precautionary measure to prevent the spread of the infection by shipping, Surgeon General Blue today sent warnings to health authorities of the Atlantic coast states and to those of the Mississippi river states, as far north as Iowa, suggesting that they take up the work of rodent eradication actively.

Three suspicious cases have been discovered in Santiago, Cuba, and infections continue to be reported from Havana. No new deaths, however, are reported from there.

With infections being reported from ports along the Spanish main, public health officials are setting in motion all available machinery to prevent its introduction into seaboard cities of the United States.

MATILDA PETERSON AT STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

That Miss Matilda Peterson of Ogden is appreciated as a teacher at the Missouri State Normal at Kirksville is borne out by the following reference which is reproduced from Normal School Index, a paper published by the school.

"At last there is a class in school to which no one goes unwillingly, and all leave reluctantly. This marvel in education is due to Miss Peterson, who has taken Miss Berry's position in the realm of the Practice school.

"The class is for the purpose of giving help to teachers of elementary subjects. It meets between 4 and 5 o'clock on Monday and Wednesday afternoons. Besides the inspiring talks of the teacher and discussions among the members, the programs include the distribution of typewritten sheets of suggestions by Miss Peterson. These tell ways of meeting every emergency which confronts the grade teacher. The students who have entered the class require no preparation except a mind that is keenly alive to the needs of the grade school.

"As the time has now come when elementary work is regarded as more important than almost any other, this class promises to be one of the most valuable offered in pedagogy. The girls who are attending it are very enthusiastic, and though no credit has been given for it, they declare that they would rather miss any other class than it."

CLAIMS FRAUD IN A STOCK DEAL BY H. C. HEALY

In Judge N. J. Harris division of the district court today was taken up the trial of the case of Isabelle V. Gibson against Joseph M. Jensen, a suit instituted to recover $1300 alleged to have been fraudulently procured in the sale of certain stock in the Montezuma Orange and Banana company of Arizona.

The complaint alleges that in 1907 one H. C. Healy, claiming to represent the defendant, induced her to purchase 1200 shares of the stock at the par value of $1 each, the representation being made by Healy that the company was in good financial standing, and that the money procured on the sale of the stock was to be used in improving the company's orange and banana groves. It afterward was learned that the representations were false.

VILLA CAMPAIGN IS BLOCKED

Entire Army Returns to Torreón—Carranza Refuses to Allow General to Import Ammunition.

CRISIS IS REACHED

News of Return North Ominous to Both Factions—Estrangement at Breaking Point.

El Paso, June 29.—Lack of ammunition has blocked General Villa's march toward Mexico City. Villa, fresh from his victory last week at Zacatecas, has returned to Torreón, bringing his entire army with him. The relations of Carranza, in command with General Carranza, in the opinion of agents here today, unquestionably caused the abandonment of the campaign. The much discussed Carranza-Villa estrangement has reached a breaking point, they asserted, in that the constitutionalist commander-in-chief has declined to allow Villa to import cartridges for his men and shells for his artillery through the port of Tampico.

This port now is the only entryway for munitions which the revolutionists may use, as the border still is closed to them by the embargo of the United States border patrol.

At Zacatecas Villa shot away practically all the cargo of the Antilla, which landed at Tampico, according to his representatives here. Carranza men, however, declare that Villa did not get the Antilla ammunition which they declare is still in Monterrey.

News of Villa's return north yesterday was received here today as ominous by both factions.

Washington, June 29.—Bombardment of the rebel city of Puerto Plata by President Borda of Santo Domingo was silenced late Friday by fire from the main battery of the American gunboat Machias. Only a few shots were required for the task.

News of this incident came to the navy department late tonight in a belated dispatch from Captain Russell on board the battleship South Carolina. The Machias, which carries eight four-inch guns, was sent into the inner harbor at Puerto Plata, prepared for a battle after the Dominican forces had time and again violated an agreement not to use artillery in attacking the rebel forces holding the port.

Captain Russell was sent to Dominican waters with general instructions to protect American and other foreign lives and property. He had warned the contending forces against the use of artillery, which meant certain death to noncombatants, and had been promised that only small arms would be employed.

In his dispatch the captain says the situation is well in hand and foreigners who desired to leave have been taken aboard the American ships.

CONFIDENCE MEN ARE CAUGHT BY THE OFFICERS

Saturday afternoon in Salt Lake Deputy Sheriff Hobson and City Detective Burk arrested Pedro Bosla and Steve Capri, Italians, under suspicion of having played a confidence game with Pedro Rois and Sebastian Rois and taking from them $895. The Rois brothers are Spanish shepherders who were in Ogden and Salt Lake on a brief vacation. They were met last week by the two Italians and were told that by investing a little money a good substantial business could be started, and that all could make some money. No details were given as to the nature of the business but it was explained that particulars would be given after the capital was at hand.

The confidence men showed large sized rolls of currency and the shepherders immediately drew money from the bank to put in with them. The money was wrapped in paper and placed in a tin box which was left with the Spaniards, the Italians holding the key. The confidence men said that they had some business to attend in Salt Lake, but that they would return to Ogden in a short time and the business would be taken up, explaining that to be protected against loss they would hold the key to the box while the box remained in the possession of the shepherders.

The Italians did not return for a number of days and friends of the two herders became suspicious, telling them that there must be something wrong with the proposition. The tin box was ripped open and, to the dismay of the Spaniards, it was discovered that it contained two apparently large rolls of bogus money. An investigation disclosed the fact that even the rolls were not all of bogus money, as the interior contained tissue paper and other material. The officers were immediately notified and the two men were arrested, in the possession of which were found tin boxes similar to those which contained the bogus money held by the Rois brothers. The officers are certain they have the right men.
